

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In a video camera, a viewfinder removed from a viewfinder fixture is mounted, via a bracket, on one end of a first arm member fixed pivotably at the other end thereof to the viewfinder fixture. The first arm member is supported at the one end thereof on a second arm member connected to a stationary thing like a tripod.